Introduction

As with most vocations, the knowledge and skills you need to be a successful real estate professional come from a variety of practical experiences, and formal training and education programs. There are several organizations or institutions that play a role in your education in this field, including the Government of Newfoundland & Labrador, the NL Association of REALTORS® (NLAR), your broker and you. NLAR encourages our members to adopt a commitment to life-long learning choosing to educate themselves far beyond the minimum requirements we've set out in this guidebook.

To help you understand the various players in your real estate education, it is helpful to consider the diagram below. At its core you are required to complete pre-license training and be licensed by the Government of NL, through the Financial Services Division at Service NL. NLAR provides you with the knowledge you need to operate within the MLS® system, our technology and other tools, and the professional standards you are committed to meet.

Your Broker's role is to train you in how to be successful in sales, how to best serve your clients and what their office procedures and policies are. Then it's up to you. There are a myriad of courses, certifications, training opportunities, informal learning events, conferences and other ways for you to continually improve your skills, knowledge and abilities. Seasoned REALTORS® will tell you that their career has been a journey of discovery and we encourage all members to make lifelong learning a priority.

Real Estate License Education Requirements

In the province of Newfoundland and Labrador the provincial government is the regulator for real estate licenses. NLAR facilitates the delivery of government-mandated training required to obtain these licenses. Before an individual can apply for a license with the regulator, they must first complete the required pre-license education through NLAR.

Types of Licensing Courses

There are two licensing courses offered by the provincial real estate association and a process to transfer existing licenses from another province. The three licensing courses available from the NLAR are:

1. Salesperson's License - Fundamentals of Real Estate Course
2. Broker's License - Office Management and Brokerage
3. License Transfer - Reciprocity Process

Salesperson's License - Fundamentals of Real Estate

To obtain a salesperson's license in NL an individual must first complete the Fundamentals of Real Estate course, a self-paced home study course. Online access to digital textbooks is provided at the time of registration with NLAR, and students have one calendar year to pass an examination based on the course material.

The examination is a 100 multiple-choice format and students are required to achieve 70% to pass.

Registration for Fundamentals of Real Estate is $2,000 plus HST. This cost is non-refundable and non-transferable. Registration includes the study materials and the first writing of the exam.

Broker's License - Office Management and Brokerage

To obtain a broker's license in NL an individual will need to complete the Office Management and Brokerage course, a self-paced home-based study course. Online access to digital textbooks is provided at the time of registration with NLAR, and students have one calendar year to pass a test based on the course material. The examination is a 100 multiple choice format with a 70% pass requirement.

Registration for the Brokerage course is $2,000 plus HST. This cost is non-refundable and non-transferable. Registration includes the study materials and the first writing of the exam, which is held at the College of the North Atlantic (CNA).

License Transfer - Reciprocity Process

The province of NL recognizes existing salesperson's and broker's licenses from all other provinces in the country. To transfer their license from another province, individuals are required to do a reciprocity process. Licenses from outside Canada are not recognized and do not qualify for license transfer.

In order to start the license transfer process, a person must first provide NLAR with a letter from their current regulator to show the individual is currently licensed in that province. Once proof of current license is received, the individual is permitted to register for the reciprocity process.

The reciprocity process is a self-paced home-based study course. Online access to the digital textbook is provided at time of registration, and students have one calendar year to pass a test based on the course material. The examination is a 100 multiple choice format and students are required to get a 70% to pass.

Registration for the Reciprocity course is $350.00 +HST. This cost is non-refundable and non-transferable.

How to Apply for a Licensing Course

To apply for one of the three licensing courses, you must first email education@nlar.ca with a request to register.

You will then be sent an email with a payment link for the desired program.

Upon successful payment, the registrant will receive an email invitation to the secure online portal that houses all the pre-license study documents online.

This site will be accessible during the registered year and will automatically be turned off on the next years anniversary date.

Each licensing course portal will include PDF's:

- Associated Textbooks
- Study Guides
- Real Estate Act and Regulations
- Exam Registration Forms
- Canadian Real Estate Encyclopedia

Any questions can be forwarded to educaiton@nlar.ca

Examinations

Classroom Exams

Exams for the licensing courses are held throughout the province at the College of the North Atlantic (CNA).

In St. John's, exams are scheduled on every second Wednesday and are held at the Prince Philip Drive campus of CNA. The full listing of the exam dates for the current year can be found on NLAR's website www.nlar.ca.

Outside St. John's examinations can be scheduled individually at local CNA campuses. The approved CNA campus locations are Gander, Corner Brook, and Happy Valley Goose Bay.

Online Exams

Additionally, we offer an online exam option. If you choose this option, you will be given a URL that will be active for 10 days, in which you can write anytime during that. Please keep in mind that you must complete the exam within your registered year.

You will need a quiet room, a laptop or a desktop computer with audio and video capabilities. The full exam will be recorded and observed live by an online proctor.

Exam Re-writes

Each registrant has three attempts at the exam during their registered year. The first exam fee is included in course registration fees. However, if a person requires an exam re-write there is a $100.00 +HST fee for each additional exam.

If an applicant is unsuccessful after three exam attempts, there is a six-month waiting period between each new exam attempt.

If the applicant exceeds their one-year registration period, they will be required to pay $531+ HST to re-register for another year before attempting a new exam.

After a student is unsuccessful on three exams, there is a six-month waiting period between each new exam attempt.

Applying for a Real Estate License

Upon successful completion of a licensing exam, students can then apply to the provincial government (Department of Service NL) for their license. When applying for a license, three things are needed:

1. Transcript of successful competition (provided by NLAR)
2. A verification letter that they are signed up with a brokerage that is registered in the province.

The license fee for a Salesperson is $200.00. For brokers its $300.00. Cheques are made payable to the Newfoundland Exchequer Account.

Recovery Fund

As of 2020, all new license applications must pay into the Real Estate Recovery Fund.

The Real Estate Recovery Fund replaces the need for brokers and salespersons to purchase bonds on a yearly basis.

All licensees are required to pay into the fund once, initially, either at the time they are first licensed for new applicants or at the time of renewal for current license-holders. Brokers will pay $450 and salespersons will pay $250 by cheque, money order, or bank draft payable to “Real Estate Recovery Fund”.

An administrative penalty will apply to all licensees who are late submitting their application to the Recovery Fund.

For more information on the specifics of applying for a license, please contact the Department of Service NL, Financial Services Regulation Division.

NLAR's on-line Learning Portal (NLearn.ca)

NLAR is committed to offering in-person training in all regions of the province at least once per year. However, to make educational offerings available to all members in all regions at their convenience, we moved to online and distance learning offerings, including online courses and webinars.

In 2017 NLAR launched www.NLearn.ca, our online learning management system to deliver members a single point of entry to all our online offerings. This is a one stop shop of all the members orientation, professional development, and training needs.

All courses on NLearn.ca are free to members, just log in using your Matrix Username and Password to gain access.

NLAR Member Education Requirements

All NLAR members are required to complete two streams of education as members of the association.

1. New Member Orientation Program
2. NL REALTOR® Professional Development Program (RPDP)

New Member Orientation Program

The NLAR Orientation Program (OP) was designed as an 'on-boarding' of new members.

The focus of this program to introduce new members to NLAR and CREA and list some of the many programs and services available to them. The OP is composed of four (4) courses:

1. Introduction to NLAR
2. CREA Member Orientation
3. Policies, Rules & Regulations
4. REALTOR® Code of Ethics

New members are required to complete the four orientation courses within the first two months (60 days) of joining NLAR. If they do not complete the orientation within this time limit, they will be placed in suspended status (lose access to all member services) until they complete the requirements.

NL REALTOR® Professional Development Program (RPDP)

Professionalism is the foundation of the REALTOR® brand. As a member of NLAR, you are obligated under the REALTOR® Code to conduct yourself with integrity, honesty, and the highest level of professionalism. To support this, the NL REALTOR® Professional Development Program (RPDP) was created to ensure all members meet a minimum standard of ongoing education — while encouraging you to exceed that standard and pursue lifelong learning.

Participation in RPDP is a condition of membership, requiring all NLAR members to take continuing education courses to refine and enhance their professional knowledge and skills.

RPDP Objectives

- To increase the level of professionalism across our REALTOR® community.
- To increase the knowledge base of our members, keeping them up to date on new information, trends and technology in real estate
- To instill in members, the importance of continuous lifelong learning to enhance your career as a REALTOR®.
- To strengthen consumers' perception of the real estate profession in Newfoundland and Labrador.

RPDP Cycle: 2025–2027

The current RPDP cycle runs from April 1, 2025 to March 31, 2027.

During this period, each NLAR member must complete a minimum of 12 credits in approved professional development.

Mandatory Courses for This Cycle

For the first time, there are two mandatory courses, each with its own deadline:

1. NLAR Rules & Regulations
Must be completed by March 31, 2026
2. Privacy of Information
Must be completed by March 31, 2027

These courses are required to maintain active membership and ensure all REALTORS® are informed and compliant with current industry standards and privacy regulations.

RPDP Elective Courses

Members may complete the remaining credits by choosing from a growing library of approved courses, most of which are available through NLearn.ca.

As of 2025, over 30 elective courses are available, covering topics like marketing, technology, ethics, business planning, and client communication. Additional credit opportunities may include NLAR events such as the Annual General Meeting, conferences, and regional meetings.

Members may also submit non-NLAR courses for assessment by the RPDP Committee for possible credit approval.

Important Notes

- Credits reset every two years — they cannot be carried forward to a future cycle.
- All 12 credits must be earned within the 2025–2027 cycle.
- Failure to meet the credit requirements will result in suspension from NLAR until compliance is achieved.

New Members & the RPDP

New NLAR members must first complete the NLAR Orientation Program. Once completed, they are only required to complete the mandatory course(s) for the current RPDP cycle — all other requirements are waived until the next cycle begins.

RPDP Course Credit Application Process

Members can apply to NLAR's Education Committee to receive credit for training they plan to take outside of the courses offered through NLAR's RPDP. Members fill out the application form available online (see attached in sample form in Appendix A) and submit to the NLAR Education department. The committee reviews the submitted material and will make a decision on whether or not the course meets the objectives of the RPDP.

Members are encouraged to apply as early as possible, but no later than four months before the training is scheduled to occur. After taking the approved training, the member will be required to provide proof of completion to receive credit towards their RPDP requirements.

If brokers are providing training to all of its salespeople, the broker is encouraged to submit one application on behalf of all attendees on the appropriate form. Similarly, franchise conference planners are encouraged to contact the NLAR Education department if they are seeking to have annual conference sessions prequalified for RPDP credits.

All applications for credit must include a course outline, the instructor's credentials and a rationale as to how the course meets the RPDP objectives. Sales training or company-specific (e.g., franchise identity compliance) training are not eligible for RPDP credit.

Cost

$25 Application cost for individual member course equivalency

$50 Application cost for Brokeragee/Franchise course equivalency
